

Abstract

A contact surface for electrical contacts is provided, an Ag layer having been deposited on a copper-based substrate using galvanic methods. The Ag layer includes finely dispersed graphite particles in a quantity of 1 to 3 weight % of the Ag layer, the graphite particles having a length in the range of 0.5 to 20 μm .

10 Fig. 2